Mikel played knowing dad was kidnapped

NIGERIA captain John Obi Mikel played his country's World Cup game with Argentina despite knowing that his father had been kidnapped and was at risk of being shot.

The former Chelsea player said he was told four hours before the game about the incident.

Mikel (above), 31, said in a statement from his management company that he hid the news from his teammates and coaches in Russia and "had to shut it out of my head and go and represent my country first".

Nigeria lost last Tuesday's game in St Petersburg 2-1 after a late Argentina goal, and were eliminated from the World Cup.

Mikel's father, Michael Mikel, was finally freed in the southeastern state of Enugu on Monday.

It is the second time that Mikel's father has been kidnapped in Nigeria.

Young adults snub ciggies

YOUNG adults are spurning cigarettes, new figures suggest.

The Office for National Statistics data shows that the largest reduction in smoking prevalence since 2011 has been noted among 18 to 24-year-olds.

Last year 17.8 per cent of people in this age bracket said they were smokers, the ONS said.

This is compared to 2011 when more than a quarter of young adults (25.7 per cent) classed themselves as smokers.

Overall 15.1 per cent of Brits – around 7.4million – were smokers in 2017.

CAVE BOYS FACE NEW FLOOD PERIL

SAFE... FOR NOW: Trapped boys were found by Brit divers (above)

BRITISH divers who discovered 12 trapped boys and their football coach in flooded caves in Thailand face the daunting prospect of helping them to safety with heavy rainfall forecast for this week.

Rick Stanton and John Volanthen were the first rescuers to reach the group, aged between 11 and 16, and their coach, 25, who disappeared in the Luang Nang Non Cave, in Chiang Rai province, on June 23.

There were scenes of elation as relatives gathered at the cave site learned the group had been found in a stable medical condition and given high-protein liquid food.

But rescuers now must grapple with the challenge of safely extracting the group through nearly a mile of tunnels, large portions of which are underwater.

Heavy rains forecast for later this week could flood the cave even further and the boys may need to swim out using diving equipment before then, said the Thai interior minister.

Anupong Paojinda said they could use the same narrow passages out that their rescuers used to get in and would need to be guided by experts.

But he added that would be an extremely dangerous task for the boys as novice divers.

HEALTH WORKER HELD OVER 8 BABY DEATHS

Countess of Chester Hospital Accident and Emergency

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A FEMALE healthcare worker has been arrested on suspicion of the murder of eight babies and the attempted murder of another six.

The arrest is part of a long-running investigation following a high number of baby deaths at the neonatal unit at the Countess of Chester Hospital.

Detectives launched an investigation in May last year, initially looking at the deaths of 15 babies between June 2015 and June 2016.

On Tuesday, police said they had made an arrest and the probe had widened. Detectives said they are looking into the deaths of 17 babies and 15 non-fatal collapses between March 2015 and July 2016.

Police have not said if the arrested woman is a nurse, doctor or other health professional.

Detective Inspector Paul Hughes, in charge of the investigation for Cheshire Police, said yesterday: "A dedicated team of detectives have been working tirelessly on this case.

"This is a highly complex and very sensitive investigation and, as you can appreciate, we need to ensure we do everything we possibly can to try to establish in detail what has led to these baby deaths and collapses.

"Due to the nature of the case, we have consulted with a number of medical specialists to ensure that we carry out as thorough an investigation as possible.

Committed

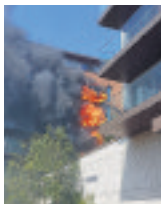
"As a result of our ongoing inquiries, we have today arrested a healthcare professional in connection with the investigation.

"She was arrested earlier this morning on suspicion of murder in relation to eight of the babies and attempted murder in relation to six of the babies and is currently in custody.

"Whilst this is a significant step forward in our inquiries, it is important to remember that the investigation is very much active and ongoing at this stage.

"There are no set timescales for this coming to a conclusion but we remain committed to carrying out a thorough investigation as soon as possible.

"Parents of all the babies are continuing to be kept fully updated and are being supported throughout the process by specially trained officers."



Panic as fire rips through block of flats

A FIRE which sparked panic as it ripped through a block of flats has been put out.

Eight fire engines and 58 firefighters were sent to the blaze in West Hampstead, in north-west London, yesterday morning.

There are not believed to have been any casualties in the incident in which three balconies in the seven-storey block of flats were alight, and the cause is unknown.

Max Truman, 29, who lives in the building, said: "I saw smoke coming out from the balcony but I didn't think anything of it.

"It carried on and I saw the smoke get thicker. I walked outside to the balcony and could see thick smoke coming out. There was no fire alarm going on at this point.

"Within 10 minutes it had gone up (the side of the building).

"All of a sudden everyone was rushing out of their doors – it was panic, panic, panic.

"We all rushed down the stairs. The fire was going up the balconies quite quickly."

Two firms in Brit HS2 bid

TWO manufacturers are to submit a joint bid to build HS2 trains in Britain.

Bombardier and Hitachi Rail announced that they will form a joint venture to compete for the £2.75bn contract to design, build and maintain at least 54 new high-speed trains.

Manufacturing would be expected to be split between Bombardier's plant in Derby and Hitachi's factory in Newton Aycliffe, County Durham.

The firms, which also have maintenance facilities across Britain, employ more than 5,000 people in the country.

They had previously submitted separate bids for the contract.

The formal tendering process is due to start later this year, with the winner announced late next year.

'YOU'VE SCOT TO WORK TOGETHER'

BUSINESS leaders have urged the Scottish and UK governments to continue to work together on Brexit.

Tim Allan, president of the Scottish Chambers of Commerce, told Westminster's Scottish Affairs Committee it would be an "error" for ministers to "draw red lines" or withdraw from joint working.

Relations between the two governments hit a new low after aspects of the EU Withdrawal Bill relating to devolution were approved by MPs at Westminster with less than 20 minutes of debate, despite the Scottish Parliament voting not to grant its consent to the legislation.

Scotland's Constitutional Relations Secretary Mike Russell has said devolution cannot continue with a "business as usual approach", calling for Holyrood's consent to be embedded in law and for new "robust" intergovernmental processes.

Conservative MP John Lamont asked a panel of witnesses what the impact would be if the Scottish Government were to pull out of joint ministerial meetings over the row.

Mr Allan said: "Scotland should be taking part in that discussion at the highest levels.

"The devolved administration has its role, the UK Government has its role – they should be working together in the interests of business.

"I'm not interested in the party politics of this or the constitutional arrangements. I think drawing red lines and pulling out of any negotiation or joint working is an error."

Cath said: "I've started going to auditions and I've been put up for some really exciting jobs.

"I'd love to do a gritty drama, but I want to try as many genres as possible.

"I don't watch much reality TV but the one show I do enjoy is Strictly Come Dancing.

Emotional

"I adore it. That's the only one I'd possibly do."

Catherine, 34, left the Weatherfield soap in emotional final scenes and, despite living just 10 minutes away from ITV's Salford studios she said it was the right time to wave goodbye.

The busty blonde added: "I've been there seven years and I think the fact my co-stars Jane Danson and Georgia Taylor were with me for my last scene made it even more emotional.

"I knew I'd made the right decision because I felt excited.

"Leaving was the right decision for me and my family."

CORDEN'S £15M MEGA-DEAL

CHAT show host James Corden is set to sign a WHOPPING £15MILLION deal to stay on American television for another FOUR years.

The 39-year-old's current contract runs out in March 2020, but sources say CBS boss Les Moonves has asked him to stay with the network.

A source in Los Angeles said: "The deal will see his earnings at least 50 per cent up on his first three years."

Corden took over as host of the US late-night talk show The Late Late Show in 2015.

THE Mercury prize-nominated rapper J Hus has been granted bail while he awaits trial for carrying a knife.

J Hus was arrested on suspicion of being in possession of a knife or bladed article after police stopped a vehicle near Westfield shopping centre in Stratford, London, on June 21.

The English rapper was remanded in custody at Thames Magistrates' Court a day later.

But the three-time Brit Award nominee was granted bail by Judge Sheelagh Canavan at Snaresbrook Crown Court on Monday.

J Hus will next appear in court on July 20.

The Mobo award winner is scheduled to appear at several gigs and festivals this summer, including London's Wireless Festival on Saturday.

And it's not hard to see exactly what Hugh, 56, saw in his 53-year-old Outnumbered co-star as she's gone topless in her previous roles.

She stripped off for her role in A Dance to the Music of Time in 1997 and again in 2004 for Almost Strangers.

CRYING ALL WAY TO THE BANK!

Sobbing Dani gets the biggest ratings...and most complaints

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

ITV are certainly cashing in on Love Island beauty Dani Dyer's emotional meltdown on Sunday night.

Not only did the episode create a spike in ratings but it also generated a huge number of complaints from viewers.

More than 2,500 people called telly watchdog Ofcom to express their disapproval of how Dani was set up.

In the show Dani, 22, was shown a misleading clip of boyfriend Jack Fincham, 26.

The couple were in separate villas after the boys and girls were split up in a controversial plot twist.

Dani was shown a video of Jack watching his ex-partner, Ellie Jones, walk into the new villa, sending girlfriend Dani into floods of tears.

Viewers were left enraged over Dani's tears after ITV2 failed to show her that her fella Jack had in fact stayed loyal to her while staying in Casa Amor and even told pals he "loved" Dani.

Horror

They watched in horror as she thought her romance was over and sobbed to the camera: "It always happens to me. As soon as I'm happy with someone, something happens to me. It's like I'm not allowed to be happy.

"Imagine it's some girl that he's been recently seeing, he clearly has feelings if he was seeing her and now she's in here."

But following the publicity generated by the controversy, Monday night's broadcast – in which the truth came out and the pair were re-united – became the most-watched ITV2 show EVER.

The dramatic episode saw an audience share of 17.4% and peaked at four million viewers.

Jack and Dani are the hot favourites to win this year's Love Island and bag the £50,000 prize money.

Mum of Arena bomb thief in £4K fraud rap

THE mother of a man who stole from stricken victims of the Manchester Arena bombing has been given an eight-month suspended jail sentence for taking almost £4,000 from a lifeboat charity.

Jessica Parker (above), 58, stole from Sea Palling Voluntary Rescue Service in Norfolk when she worked as its secretary.

She pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing before Norwich JPs to 10 counts of fraud and was sentenced at Norwich Crown Court yesterday. She was also ordered to repay the £3,847 that she took within 28 days.

She told the court she was "ashamed".

Her son, Christopher Parker, was jailed for four years and three months at Manchester Crown Court in January after admitting theft and fraud.

He had been hailed a homeless hero after the tragedy on May 22 last year as he appeared on TV talking about how he helped those caught up in the blast.

DRUNK HOT TUB GROPER HUBBY IN HOT WATER

He touched up 3 women at wife's birthday party

A DRUNK husband groped three women in a hot tub at his OWN WIFE'S birthday party.

Phillip Rankin, 28, hired the mobile spa as a surprise for his wife at their home on June 9 this year.

The dad-of-three groped one woman's bottom in the kitchen of their home in Malvern, Worcester, and touched another two women under the water.

Rankin, who has since moved out of the family home to Cradley, West Midlands, admitted sexual assault at Worcester Magistrates' Court.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Prosecutor Peter Love said: "He hired the hot tub for the party and the offending began when Rankin was in the kitchen, touching one of the victims on the bottom.

Scared

"Throughout the night the same victim, as well as two others, were in the hot tub with Rankin and he touched them on the inner thigh and private parts, which went on under the water.

"The three women later spoke to each other and realised they were not the only victims, so called police.

"In their statements to officers, the victims had said what had happened to them had made them feel scared, panicky, and one victim said that Rankin being intoxicated was not an excuse."

Rankin was given a 36-month community order. He was also ordered to carry out 25 rehabilitation days and 200 unpaid hours.

In addition, Rankin was ordered to sign the sex offenders register for five years and told to pay costs of £135 and a victim surcharge of £85.

Defending, Chris Hilton said: "On the evening, Mr Rankin had gone up to bed and his wife noted a more subdued atmosphere at the end of the evening.

"Her enquiries led to her finding out what had happened."

By Georgia, she's popping out!

REALITY TV babe Georgia Cole literally POPPED OUT when she headed to celebrity hotspot Lokum in Essex.

The 25-year-old starred on ITV2's Survival of the Fittest and ensured she still hogged some limelight n a pale lacy lingerie-style top.

A fan said: "I think I've died and gone to heaven!"

ED Miliband is making a return to Radio 2 to reprise his role as a DJ.

The 48-year-old former Labour leader (above) will be back to guest-host current affairs programme the Jeremy Vine Show next week.

Ex-Conservative leader and Brexiteer Lord Howard will also present three shows.

Doncaster North MP Mr Miliband previously sat in for Vine, and attempted extreme death metal singing.

Radio 2 head Lewis Carnie said: "Ed set the bar high last summer and I'm sure Lord Howard will be just as entertaining."

Mr Miliband said: "I'm flattered to have been asked back to present Radio 2's Jeremy Vine Show.

"My death metal career has really taken off since my performance with Napalm Death on the show last year.

"But I wanted to give something back to the place where it all began."

Ed will host the show from Monday July 9 to Wednesday July 11.

STACEY: SEX WITH ME IS BORING!

URGH!: Stacey hates idea of sex vid

TV PRESENTER Stacey Solomon reckons that SEX with her is BORING.

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

Stacey, 28, revealed that she only knows two positions in bed – and that if she ever made a sex tape, it would bore people to tears.

The outspoken reality TV star is currently loved up with Joe Swash, 36, and revealed that Love Island got her thinking about how dull their sex life is.

She revealed: "The reverse cowgirl, doggy and wheelbarrow… while watching 'sex charades' on Love Island earlier this week, I realised that I would have failed a sex position exam had there been one at school – I only knew two!

"Plenty of women – Kim Kardashian and Paris Hilton, I'm looking at you – have launched their multi-million pound careers off the back of a sex tape.

Worse

"Each to their own, I suppose, but I honestly couldn't think of anything worse.

"If I made a sex tape it would be the most boring video ever made.

"Gemma Collins said that she's made a sex tape and, for the right price, (a cool £1 million), she'd let the world see it.

"When I was asked, 'Would you ever make a sex tape Stacey?' (yes that actually happened. I know, what is the world coming to?) my initial reaction was 'ew!', 'urgh!, 'why?', accompanied by some serious facial distortions.

"The thought of anyone seeing me at my most intimate, in fact even the thought of just me seeing me, makes my whole body shudder."

TOWIE star Gemma has revealed she's got a homemade porno that she's ready to flog for an eye-watering £1million, though there has been no news of any takers as yet.

However, it seems if Stacey ever got jiggy in front of the camera, it would hardly be worth it.

"We are incredible tennis buffs.

"Ever since we were kids we used to queue – we slept overnight."

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

CHERYL'S ex-husband Jean-Bernard Fernandez-Versini has reportedly sparked up a romance with much younger Scottish singer Tallia Storm.

Fresh from her split with toyboy Liam Payne, 24, Cheryl, 35, now faces her former partner also shacking up with someone else.

Tallia, 19, was spotted cuddling up to the 37-year-old French businessman at the Jersey Style Awards at the weekend, following months of rumours about their relationship.

Fun

In May, Jean-Bernard and Tallia sparked rumours they were dating after being snapped looking very close at the Cannes Film Festival.

Tallia revealed: "JB came with his mate to hang with my family and friends in Jersey and we had great fun at the Jersey Style Awards.

"This was his first time in Jersey and he loved it. We had such a laugh at the event – we just hung out all together and danced as mates."

The pair's outing came just days before Cheryl, 35, announced she had split from boyfriend Liam Payne after two-and-a-half years.

Following months of split rumours, Cheryl and Liam finally called it a day and, in a statement, revealed they'd actually parted ways two weeks ago.

One Direction heartthrob Liam has now moved out of the pair's £5million mansion they shared in Surrey – but both of them have agreed to keep things amicable for the sake of their one-year-old son, Bear.

In an online statement, the pair said: "We are sad to announce that we are going our separate ways. It's been a tough decision for us to make.

"We still have so much love for each other as a family. Bear is our world and we ask that you respect his privacy as we navigate our way through this together."

WOMAN BUTCHERED EX-COP LOVER AFTER HE DIED IN KINKY SEX GAME

A WOMAN "accidentally" strangled her lover during a kinky rough sex session" before dismembering his body in a Satanic sacrificial ritual.

Anastasia Onegina is currently being detained on suspicion of murdering and hacking to pieces former cop Dmitry Sinkevich, 24.

Drained

His corpse was found butchered with a kitchen knife to make it look like the Satanic idol Baphomet.

Onegina and Sinkevich were known to have been interested in the occult and BDSM sex.

Police evidence shows that Sinkevich's body was drained of blood and the head, hands and feet were stored in the fridge of Onegina's flat in the Russian city of Oryol.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Lawyer Yulia Minazova claims that the macabre police evidence shows the lips, ears and some fingers were severed.

The corpse's arms and legs were also removed, as was the penis. Religious experts say that the killing and dismembering of Sinkevich – who worked as a barman after leaving the force – was done on the last night for sacrifice in the lunar cycle.

The lawyer said: "This dismemberment was not pragmatic but creative, undertaken for a ritual of sacrifice."

She has handed her analysis to investigators and will present it in court.

Dmitry's stepmother Nina said: "They found everything except his liver. In the fridge were the head, hands, and feet. She had drained his blood."

Hard

Onegina, who told police that she had "accidentally strangled him during hard sex", is currently undergoing psychiatric assessment.

She is being held on suspicion of murder and dismembering the corpse and will face trial unless she is diagnosed as mentally unfit.

Dmitry's father Igor said that his son had told him that Onegina's father was a leading businessman and could get him a good job. He explained: "I told him, 'Be careful with those businessmen, Dima (Dmitry) so that they don't tear your head off'.

"I didn't think this is literally what would happen."

Man, 50, 'beaten and held hostage because he's gay'

A MAN was held hostage and beaten for four days inside an apartment because he is gay, prosecutors in Massachusetts said.

Police have charged 19-year-old Jackson Sugrue with a hate crime in connection with the alleged assault in Framingham.

Prosecutor Dylan Krasinski said the 50-year-old man told cops he was using drugs with Sugrue when the teen refused to let him leave the apartment.

The man said he was struck multiple times and refused food and water until he managed to escape.

But Sugrue's lawyer denied the man's claims during his client's arraignment hearing, saying instead that Sugrue was the victim.

The lawyer said the 50-year-old man was trying to take advantage of Sugrue.

GEMMA'S GOT ARG ON A 'SPERM DIET'!

MAKE ME A MUM: Gemma's baby wish

She wants him to have tip-top tadpoles

JIZZ THE JOB: Spunk pressure is on Arg

TOWIE star Gemma Collins is allegedly so desperate to have a BABY with co-star boyfriend James 'Arg' Argent that she's put him on a SPERM DIET.

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

In December, the outspoken reality TV star said she was trying to shed some weight to help her conceive.

And now it seems she's forcing her fella to do the same.

Kick

Pals say 37-year-old Gemma is worried her window for having a baby is getting smaller and she's reportedly put Arg, 30, on a health kick to ensure his spunk is in tip-top form.

A source said: "Gemma has put him on a 'sperm diet'.

"She is encouraging him to get fit and healthy, which means eating lots of fruit, vegetables and greens.

"She says she's done lots of research in this department and reckons this new regime will help his performance.

"She wants the best quality sperm to make babies with!

"Gemma is trying to appear laid-back, but she's so ready for this.

"She would love to have a summer baby – or twins, ideally – and really hopes she and Arg are parents by this time next year.

"This diet is more important than any she's done before, so she and Arg might actually stick to this one.

"Gemma's got such baby envy right now. She says everywhere she looks, someone is pregnant or pushing a pram.

"Being a mum is all she's ever wanted."

Cops' advice for nude sunbathers

TOPLESS Brit sunbathers are being offered "guidance" from the police.

It comes after a row which saw officers called out to a neighbour's dispute over the issue in Reigate, Surrey.

A police spokesman said: "If you want to wander around your garden naked and you are overlooked by neighbours then you have to be careful.

"An Englishman's home is not quite his castle and your garden is not exempt from the law."

They advise that before stripping off you explain to your neighbours that you want to sunbathe without clothes and to be discreet.

cara BRETT

CURVY beauty Cara Brett says she's got a whole wardrobe crammed full of SEXY LINGERIE and role playing outfits.

The busty 32D stunna, from Hampstead, London, has loads of underwear – but she still reckons spontaneous shagging can sometimes be the best.

Cara, 27, said: "Nothing makes me feel sexier than when I'm wearing gorgeous lingerie and stilettos with lacy stockings and suspenders.

"I've got loads of gorgeous, feminine lingerie, nurse's uniforms, kinky latex outfits.

"I'm always thinking of new ones I can buy for role play.

Horn

"I mean, don't get me wrong, it takes some time and effort to get dressed up, so I don't do it every time.

"Sometimes the best sex is spontaneous.

"Like when you wake up on a Sunday morning with one hell of a hangover... that always gives me the horn!

"Then I'm just in my birthday suit – and I've had no complaints about that!"

ESTHER, 78: I STILL GO NAKED IN MY GARDEN!

GREAT FEEL: Esther is a fan of going naked

'...and if you don't like it, look away'

By LAURA HARDING news@sundaysport.co.uk

DAME Esther Rantzen reckons nude sunbathing is great, and has told people who take issue with it to "look at something else".

And she revealed she still does it now, even though she's in her 70s.

The TV star said she has been a fan of it for years and said it's no worse than the skimpy outfits worn on Strictly Come Dancing.

Flesh

Esther, 78, revealed she whipped off all her clothes to sunbathe on her 50th birthday, and said in a radio interview: "You must try it, it just feels completely different, you haven't got the sweaty bits where your clothes are overheating you, you haven't got the bit where the straps cut into your flesh.

"You have got whatever draught or soft breeze there is on every pore and every cell of your body and it really makes you feel wonderful."

Dame Esther said she had been offered £2,000 for nude photographs by a newspaper but refused to sell them when they would not meet her demand for £6,000.

She said: "I was a bit upset at the time, I thought they had valued me a bit cheaply."

Last summer, police officers in Reigate, Surrey, were called to a dispute between neighbours over nude sunbathing, but Dame Esther said: "Really, if someone doesn't like the sight of you in the nude all they have got to do is turn around and look at something else."

"The CPS says that the wider public has to be protected from harassment, alarm and distress. All that about a few extra inches of flesh!

"Have they seen Strictly Come Dancing? Have they noticed the public enjoys the view?

"Mind you, I don't look very like the professional dancers these days at 78, but I'm still sunbathing in the nude."

Vampire nicked for OAP murder

A "VAMPIRE" killer who slit an elderly woman's throat has been arrested after being found with a blood-filled pot.

Christopher Sibanda, 34, struck Subusisiwe Sigauke with a log before cutting her throat.

He was nabbed in Zimbabwe's Sikhewu village when a passer-by saw him sucking blood from the victim's neck.

Assistant inspector Eglon Nkala said: "I can confirm we have arrested a suspect who allegedly committed a murder at 2pm on Wednesday along the main road from Kana Mission Hospital to Sikhewu village.

"Villagers who had embarked on a manhunt apprehended him and surrendered him to police and he is in custody."

A local councillor said Sibanda was known to "lose his mind".

THE HALF-HOUR GREEK HOLIDAY!

Couple are sent back after losing passports on flight

By WENDY THOMAS news@sundaysport.co.uk

A COUPLE on their first holiday were forced to fly home after just 30 MINUTES because their passports were "lost".

Lewis Mundy and Kimberley Floyd, both 27, boarded the flight to Greece for the £1,400 trip and tucked the passports into the magazine pocket of their seats.

But after stepping off the plane in Kos, they realised they had lost their documents and they were nowhere to be found on the jet.

The disappointed couple (above) were then told they couldn't stay on the holiday island – and within 30 minutes they were sent packing on a return flight to the UK.

Lewis, of Portsmouth, Hants, said: "We were supposed to be sunning it up in Greece but instead ended up at Stansted.

"There's no sign of our passports and we've had no help, no compensation, nothing.

"We've done everything we could, but no one seems to care."

A member of the cabin crew searched the plane but couldn't find the documents and the couple had to endure another four-hour flight back to the UK.

They say they have contacted tour operators First Choice and airline TUI but have not managed to locate their passports or had any offer of compensation.

Hols hell after Ryanair pilots vote to strike

RYANAIR pilots have voted to back strike action in a dispute over terms and conditions.

Members of the Irish Airline Pilots' Association at the budget airline voted overwhelmingly (99 per cent) in favour of industrial action.

The strike is planned for Thursday July 12, for 24 hours.

The union says the Dublin-based carrier is not taking its demands seriously over pay and conditions, issues over seniority and how leave is dealt with.

The union said it remained available and willing to engage on the issues identified in the notice of strike action.

The outcome of the ballot could leave holidaymakers facing disruption over the busy summer period.

It came hours after the airline revealed another month of travel misery as air traffic control strikes left more than 210,000 passengers with cancelled flights in June.

Prince on Beeb to talk of pests

THE Prince Of Wales will make an appearance on Gardeners' World on BBC Two to discuss the threats posed by pests and diseases to our native plants and trees.

The keen gardener will be interviewed at Highgrove by presenter Adam Frost for an episode to be broadcast on July 18.

Adam said: "In February I was invited to a meeting at Highgrove to discuss the problem of pests and diseases and what could be done about them.

"One of the outcomes was Action Oak, to help protect our iconic oak.

"Today he has invited me back to Highgrove to say why we as gardeners also need to do our bit."

MILLIONAIRE MADAM WITH 40 HOOKERS AND BROTHEL IN MAYFAIR GETS 10 YEARS

- Paid thousands at time into 27 bank accounts
- £40 for hand relief and £150 an hour for full sex
- Women kept as slaves

SISTER: Elizabeth Muya

EXPLOITS: Ann O'Brien and (below) Martin Carroll

By ROSS IBBETSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MILLIONAIRE madam who ran two brothels and kept a Romanian woman enslaved to fund home improvements has been jailed for 10 years.

Ann O'Brien, 44, and husband Martin Carroll, 47, splashed out on a loft conversion, ground floor extension, designer kitchen several giant flat screen TVs and even spent £10,000 on curtains.

O'Brien opened her first three-girl escort agency in 1997 after leaving a small village in Kenya and heading to Ireland where she married her first husband Patrick O'Brien.

She was soon managing 40 prostitutes and paying thousands of pounds into 27 bank accounts each week.

She paid a £400,000 deposit to buy a £1.27m Georgian townhouse in swanky Upper Berkeley Street, Mayfair, to run as a brothel.

Assets

O'Brien also ran two websites dubbed "brothels on wheels" which sent girls to homes and hotel rooms.

Her sex menu offered everything from £40 hand relief to £150 for hour-long sex sessions with girls from as far afield as Thailand, Brazil and Sweden.

SWANKY: O'Brien's flash knocking shop

O'Brien was convicted of three counts of controlling prostitution in 2005 but let off with a 180-hour community punishment order and made to pay back £600,000.

Officers from the Met's financial investigations unit seized assets including the madam's Kilburn High Road hairdressing salon, her car and what remained in her bank accounts.

But soon O'Brien had started business again, running two bordellos with her husband and sister.

She was convicted of charges including conspiracy to control prostitution for gain and facilitating travel of another person with a view to exploitation after her latest Southwark Crown Court trial.

Carroll and O'Brien's sister Elizabeth Muya, 48, were found guilty of conspiracy to convert criminal property and two counts of keeping a brothel for prostitution.

Judge Simon Russel-Flint, QC, said: "This was serious criminality that exploited many people of considerable vulnerability.

"In Ms O'Brien's case this is the fourth time that she has been before a court for similar offending in respect of prostitution or management of brothels and I am satisfied that they do present as an escalation.

"This was a well run commercially profitable enterprise from which you have all gained and stood to gain further."

Prosecutor Alexander Agbamu said: "Ann O'Brien and Elizabeth Muya ran two London brothels.

Sham

"They, along with Martin Carroll, laundered the proceeds of those brothels through sham companies which they had set up.

"A number of people worked at these brothels. One of those people had been trafficked from Romania and was subjected to conditions which amount to modern slavery."

Police began investigating in March last year at Stansted Airport when a Romanian man and woman made UK Border Force officers suspicious. The woman had no money, no phone and no return ticket and said the man, Lucian Grosu, was her boyfriend.

Later that day police from the Modern Slavery and Kidnap Unit went to Grosu's address in Cricklewood, north-west London, and arrested him.

Mr Agbamu said: "Mr Grosu had put her at 65 St Michael's Street as a sex worker.

"Two women ran the brothel. They were Barbara, who was the boss, and Lucy. Ms Banciu understood that the women were sisters."

Barbara was O'Brien's alias and Lucy was Muya's.

Grosu has already been convicted of facilitating the travel of another with a view to exploitation.

O'Brien, of Cricklewood, admitted conspiracy to convert criminal property and one count of keeping a brothel for prostitution.

She denied but was found guilty of conspiracy to control prostitution. She was jailed for 10 years.

Muya denied but was found guilty of the same charges and got 21 months.

Carroll denied but was found guilty. He was spared jail for the sake of his daughters and sentenced to 18 months suspended.

Sheridan: ‘At last I’m in a good place’

SHERIDAN Smith has said she is “finally in a good place” after struggling with her mental health.

The actress hit the headlines when she pulled out of a number of shows for West End musical Funny Girl, later saying she “just couldn’t continue, I lost my mind”.

Sheridan (above), 37, who plays a mother struggling with schizophrenia in a new film, told BBC Breakfast: “It’s taken me years to get to a place where I felt like I could own it and then say it. It was speculated that I was struggling.

“There were different doctors giving me different medication but I’m finally in a good place.

“It did take a massive thing to come out and actually say ‘I’m struggling and I need help’, so I understand that it is hard for people.”

Asked what helped her most, she said: “Eventually, I opened up to family. After years of going on different medication and just being wrongly diagnosed, I’ve got the right doctor now and I’m in a great place.”

WIFE CHOPS OFF HUBBY’S PENIS WITH THIS

ANGRY: Karuna Sanusan (above) and (below) her hubby is whisked off to hospital

ATTACKED: Siripan

...then throws it out of the window in a jealous rage

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WIFE hacked off her husband’s COCK with a meat cleaver after she discovered his affair.

Karuna Sanusan, 24, told police she woke up hubby Siripan, 40, before attacking him with a 12-inch long chopper at their home in Sriracha, near Bangkok.

The scorned wife then hurled the detached penis out of the bedroom window while Siripan was left in agony in a pool of his own blood.

Neighbours heard the man’s howls of pain and called cops.

Police scooped up the severed willy and put it in an ice box for surgeons to try to re-attach – but medics said it would not be possible.

Siripan was rushed to the nearby Samitivej Sriracha Hospital while Karuna was arrested and held.

The wife, originally from Cambodia, was pictured by reporters sitting calmly as she was interviewed by police.

She told officers that she had recently discovered her husband had been seeing different women and hatched the revenge plot to cut off his Johnson.

She said: “Me and my husband work together selling organic vegetables at a stall.

“Before this happened I became suspicious he was having an affair. I always saw him flirting with a lot of girls and I had an idea of what he was doing.

“Then I found out that he was secretly going with other women. I was full of anger.

“I planned to do this. I aroused him in the morning while he was absent-minded, then used the knife to cut off his penis. I threw it out of the window.”

Penis-hacking is common in Thailand – where it is known as “feeding the ducks” – as spurned wives throw severed phalluses to their wildstock.

Alex strips off under GMB desk

WEATHERMAN Alex Beresford says he would wear NO PANTS on Good Morning Britain if he could.

Alex (above), 34, confessed that when he's only filmed from the waist up, he wears shorts.

Talking about his fashion on the popular breakfast television show, Alex said under the desk things can be a little more casual.

Hinting that he's gone without trousers on the show, he said: "Good Morning Britain is a smart programme and suits fit the news.

"Onscreen, smart in a suit. Off TV, casual in tracksuits – I like to feel comfortable and chilled out.

"I'll let you into a secret, though – when you only see me from the waist up, I don't tuck my shirt in so it doesn't wrinkle when I'm waving my arms about.

"If it's a hot day, and you don't see me from the waist down, I'll probably be wearing shorts with my suit jacket. If I can get away with wearing no trousers, I do."

Tom: 'Let kids see slaughter'

COUNTRYFILE* presenter Tom Heap has suggested school children should be made to visit abattoirs in order to improve their understanding of where their food comes from.

Tom (above), 52, said: "I believe slaughterhouses, intensive chicken barns or crowded pig pens should be open to the public eye. Schools should be encouraged to visit as part of the curriculum.

"For me, secrecy breeds malpractice inside and, frequently unjustified, suspicion on the outside. It's easy for campaign groups to fill in the void with their own version of how animals are treated."

FEMALE HEAD TEACHER'S 'EXTREME' PORN ON HER PHONE

BANNED FOR LIFE: Catherine Jones

By IAN JONES news@sundaysport.co.uk

A HEAD teacher who kept a stash of HARDCORE PORN on her school iPhone has been BANNED from the profession for LIFE.

Catherine Jones, 42, from Oldham, Gtr Manchester, was found guilty of unacceptable professional conduct and conduct that may bring the profession into disrepute at a hearing.

Two of her fellow teachers had voiced concerns over Ms Jones' behaviour and she was suspended pending an investigation.

Catalogue

But the investigation revealed the teacher had recorded and stored a catalogue of porn on her school iPhone.

She had also allegedly asked a junior staff member to transfer the X-rated images from her work phone to her laptop.

The panel heard when she was given a new iPhone for work in June 2015, she asked an IT apprentice to back up her previous phone's images to her laptop.

The staff member said that "when backing up the device, he had seen images of an explicit sexual nature".

Two other staff reported seeing "images of explicit sexual acts" and "explicit sexual activity" on her mobile.

Ms Jones also posted jokes in poor taste and vulgar comments on her Facebook page, along with strong personal and political opinions, while making it clear she was a head teacher.

As well as storing porn on her phone, the panel heard she'd also taken £350 from a collection box to help pay her mortgage and altered pupils' marks in national exams.

Ms Jones worked as the head teacher of Stoneleigh Academy from September 2012 until May 2016.

Theft

Alan Meyrick, for the Education Secretary, said he considered the panel's comments and banned Ms Jones from the profession for life, adding: "These behaviours include serious dishonesty – theft of school resources and cheating in national exams.

"This means that Ms Catherine Jones is prohibited from teaching indefinitely. In view of the seriousness of the allegations found proved against her, Ms Jones shall not be entitled to apply for restoration of her eligibility to teach."

Scotty T is given Geordie Shore reprieve

WELCOME RETURN: Scotty T

CONTROVERSIAL reality star Scotty T is set to return to Geordie Shore – just months after being AXED.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The 30-year-old has allegedly impressed MTV bosses with his presenting skills on Just Tattoo Of Us and they've offered him a chance of a shock return to the Newcastle reality series.

He was axed from the popular show in January following a six-year stint after being pictured 'snorting a suspicious substance'.

Famous

However, he's lined up to make a comeback to the hit reality series that made him famous and will allegedly be the 'house boss' when he returns.

A source said: "Anna, who is in charge of the house, has brought Scotty in to work as a boss alongside her.

"He impressed bosses on Just Tattoo Of Us and they think he really deserves a second chance. Scotty will be in charge of the housemates' activities and will be setting some challenges for them.

"He's telling everyone he's going out to make them all mortal and make the show crazy, like it used to be."

Just a few weeks ago, Scotty T ruled out a return and branded the current cast "divs" but it seems he might be made to eat his words if his return comes to fruition.

Throwing

"I don't usually do it in my bed, to be honest. I'm more likely to have sex on the dining room table!

"I enjoy throwing everything off the table and lying on it, waiting for my boyfriend to come on top of me. It's like something out of a movie.

"I've done it pretty much everywhere in my house – in the bath, the shower, even the kitchen worktop.

"I'm always ready!"

MUM'S THE WORD FOR OUR GIRL MICHELLE

OH BABY! Is Michelle pregnant?

By WENDY THOMAS news@sundaysport.co.uk

RUMOURS that Michelle Keegan is PREGNANT have gone into overdrive after her father-in-law posted a picture with a cryptic caption.

Mark Wright's dad, Mark, 62, has convinced fans of the showbiz couple that Michelle, 31, is expecting a baby after sharing a snap of the brunette beauty on his Instagram account.

Stunning

In a series of photos 'Big Mark' shared from his son Josh's wedding day, a photo of Michelle is the one that's got fans talking.

The father-of-four posted a photo of Our Girl star Michelle at the family wedding in Majorca with the caption 'And a big thank you to my daughter-in-law. #youknowweknow'.

Fans wasted no time convincing themselves Mark's snap was a 'clear sign' that he was celebrating the news his first grandchild is on the way.

One fan frantically wrote 'First grandchild!' while another said 'Simply gorgeous, does this mean Michelle is expecting?'

Comments came flooding in on the photo of Michelle looking stunning in an orange floral dress as she ran her fingers through her hair.

One follower wrote: 'Shut up, do you reckon? How beautiful would their babies be'.

Another reckoned they'd cracked the code and said 'I'm guessing you may have let the cat out the bag!'

Michelle and Mark were in Majorca last month when the former TOWIE star, 31, was his brother Josh's best man as he married Hollie Kane.

Spitting shame Carra back as Sky TV pundit

JAMIE Carragher will continue as a pundit for Sky Sports next season – but he's on a final warning after SPITTING at a youngster.

Carragher (above) has been suspended since March after he spat out of his car window at a 14-year-old girl and her father.

The driver, who took a video of the incident, had been goading the former Liverpool defender about Manchester United's victory over his old side earlier that day.

He will return for the start of the Premier League campaign next month following a meeting with Sky Sports chief Barney Francis.

He persuaded his employers that there would be no repeat of the shameful incident.

A Sky spokesman said: "He has shown remorse, is hugely apologetic for the offence he caused and has taken the appropriate steps to make sure that the incident will not be repeated."

It's Protest Day at TGI Fridays

A SERIES of protests are planned today – American Independence Day – outside TGI Fridays restaurants as part of a lengthy dispute over pay.

Members of the Unite union will hold more than 30 demonstrations across the country following strikes in recent weeks.

The union said the US company has started using tips to pay the wages of kitchen staff, which it says is costing low-waged waiting staff around £250 a month in lost wages.

Unite claimed the Government's failure to act on tipping abuses has left the door open for "rogue" bosses to exploit.

Teacher plied lad with pot for sex

AFFAIR: Jones had 7-month fling with teenager

A TEACHER has been arrested after she allegedly sold one of her teenage students WEED before SHAGGING him.

Jennifer Jones, 30, reportedly had a seven-month affair with a 16-year-old male pupil who went to the school where she taught.

Police claim Jones plied the lad with cannabis to 'coax him' into bonking her during their lengthy relationship.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

According to investigators, her alleged victim is a student in the independent studies program at Pinnacle Academy Charter School, California.

She taught at the same school but is no longer an employee of the South Monterey County Joint Union High School District.

Romps

Their relationship allegedly began in November 2017 and lasted until late last month.

Throughout their romps, Jones allegedly plied the student with marijuana multiple times, according to the Sheriff's Office.

But investigators say they don't believe any of the sexual activity took place on school property.

And they don't yet know whether there may be other victims.

Jones was arrested after investigators served a search warrant at her home in King City, California, last Thursday.

She was taken to Monterey County Jail and her bail was set at a whopping £230,000 while she awaits her trial.

In a statement, the Sheriff's Office said: "Our investigation revealed that the relationship began in November of 2017 and continued until June of 2018.

"The relationship was sexual in nature between Jones and the victim."

SAMSUNG TO PROBE PHONES PHOTOS BUG

SAMSUNG has said it is investigating after some users claimed their phones started sending photos to contacts without their permission.

According to user posts on Reddit and the Korean firm's customer forums, the messages are being sent from the default Samsung Messages app – but it does not show the files have been sent.

In one account, Reddit user Rubsumlotion claimed his Samsung Galaxy S9+ sent his "entire photo gallery over text" to his girlfriend.

Other users reported similar issues, but no cause has been found.

However, some have reported receiving an update to their messaging app that enables Rich Communication Services (RCS).

This is the technology designed to replace SMS as the modern standard for text messaging and is programmed to make sending multimedia content easier.

Jagger: I want to strut my stuff in Corrie!

SIR Mick Jagger reportedly wants to land a cameo role in his favourite telly show, soap drama Coronation Street.

The Rolling Stones frontman, 74, might be a rock and roll legend but there's nothing he likes more than watching Corrie.

And according to sources close to the ageing rock band, Mick (above) is eyeing up a cameo on the show so he can step foot onto the famous cobbles.

A member of the band's crew said: "Mick is one of the biggest Corrie fans out there. I don't think he misses an episode.

"It would be a dream come true if he was allowed to strut his stuff on the cobbles."

It seems Corrie chiefs are up for hosting the rock star too.

A Corrie insider said: "Getting Mick Jagger on the show would be amazing. He'd easily be one of the biggest names to ever appear."

Mick isn't the only star to admit being a big Coronation Street fan, as American pop star Katy Perry revealed she loves catching up on the Weatherfield antics when she's in the UK.

Iran claims Israel is stealing its clouds

A MAD Iranian war general has accused Israel of stealing its CLOUDS.

The head of Iran's Civil Defence Organisation said that the changing climate in Iran is "suspect".

A spokesman said: "Foreign interference is suspected to have played a role in climate change.

"Israel and another country in the region have joint teams which work to ensure clouds entering Iranian skies are unable to release rain.

"On top of that, we are facing the issue of cloud and snow theft."

To argue their case, the Islamic republic cited a survey showing that above 7,200 feet all mountainous areas between Afghanistan and the Mediterranean are covered in snow, except Iran.

JAILED: TEACHER WHO CHEATED ON HUSBAND WITH 3 TEEN BOYS

DEVIANT: Pruitt sent dirty pics to lads at her school

A PE TEACHER has been jailed after she was found guilty of having sex with three of her male students.

Ashley Pruitt, 31, a married mum-of-one, pleaded guilty to two counts of "sex act or deviant sexual intercourse" with a student.

She also admitted two counts of porn distribution to a minor involving three student-athletes – all under 19 – at her school.

Virginity

Pruitt worked as an English and PE Miss at two schools between 2008-2015 and was accused of having improper encounters with three different students between August and October of 2014.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

All three victims were in Pruitt's classes at some point. She had oral sex with one victim, a student under the age 19 in a car.

Pruitt told another student, who was 16 at the time, she wanted to take his virginity and sent him sexual messages and nude photos of herself on Snapchat, according to court records.

She also "made out" with another student under the age of 19 in a car and used Snapchat to send him photos of her vagina and breasts.

The teacher, of Locust Fork, Alabama, handed herself in to police in November 2014 and was initially charged with two counts of providing pornography to a minor, two counts of sex act with a student, and one count of sex contact with a student involving three different students.

Blowjob

As part of her plea agreement, the sex act with a student count was dismissed.

Pruitt was sentenced to 15 years in prison on the two counts of giving a blowjob or having deviant sex with a student, with 12 years suspended.

On the other two counts of pornography distribution, Pruitt was sentenced to one year in prison, with six months suspended.

She was also ordered to pay fines totalling more than $1,000 for all four counts.

One Alabama state education source said: "People snigger about these things because they always think the boys probably had a great time.

"But in actuality, we're talking about assault here. Sexual assault on minors.

"Pruitt is not just a frisky woman playing around. She's a sexual predator.

"It's a strange world where people rightly find this stuff disgusting if it applies to a male teacher, but somehow amusing when it's a woman.

"Kids can be easily influenced but those experiences could haunt them for the rest of their lives."

The husband of Pruitt, with whom she has a young son, is said to be standing by her.

FILTHIEST REVELATIONS YOU'VE EVER READ!!!

GIRL CHOPPED OFF HEAD AND ARMS OF SCOTTISH GRAN

Sandra, 74, had tried to help her and made her tea

BRUTAL: Prince

GRISLY DEATH: Sandra Malcom

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A WOMAN has been jailed for life after brutally BEHEADING a Scottish grandmother.

Sandra Malcom, 74, was hacked to death at her home in Cape Town, South Africa, just as she was planning on returning home to her native Dundee.

Sheree Prince, 22, admitted carrying out the grisly slaying in April 2015.

In her plea statement, Prince described how she stabbed the pensioner before chopping off her arms and her head.

She said: "I started cutting her body to break it apart, I then cut her arms and tried to cut her legs but did not get it right.

"I then used an axe to cut her legs off."

The killer said she had asked the victim for help after burning her foot and the kind, elderly lady invited her into her home to clean it up when Prince stabbed Mrs Malcom.

Judge Bruce Langa said the 'horrifying' way in which Prince killed Mrs Malcom showed that the murder was premeditated.

He said: "I accept the report by the forensic pathologist that the deceased was stabbed 24 times.

"This does not alter the accused's guilt, but will be relevant for sentencing.

"The accused totally dismembered the deceased. She removed her head and all the main limbs – legs, arms and knees – completely.

Bloodbath

"An attempt to cut both her thighs in half was unsuccessful. An attempt to cut the upper torso in half was also unsuccessful.

"There is no justification to kill the deceased unless she planned it. It was planned."

Police arrested Prince in Citrusdal, 100 miles north of Cape Town, a few days after the grandmother's death. Her fingerprints had been found at the crime scene.

Mrs Malcom's grandson, Scott, was met by the bloodbath after clambering through her bathroom window to check up on the expat – the same route used by the killer.

The Scottish lady moved to South Africa 35 years before the savage attack with her daughters Susan and Alison.

Her devastated nephew, Colin Chalmers, of Monifieth, said: "I've never had to deal with anything like this. It's shocking."

Chris shacks up with 50 Shades babe

COLDPLAY frontman Chris Martin and Fifty Shades of Grey actress Dakota Johnson are moving in together.

Singer Chris, 41, and the 28-year-old actress have been enjoying a low-profile romance since last September.

And the couple are now planning to take the next step.

Brit Chris is so smitten with the brunette babe that he's said to have asked her to move into his Malibu mansion.

A source said: "The pair have been spending so much time together Chris thought the next logical step was to ask her to move in with him.

"They're considering throwing a moving-in party with friends and family to celebrate.

"Dakota and Chris are smitten."

Actress Dakota is also said to have impressed Chris's ex-wife Gwyneth Paltrow, 45, and a source added: "Chris and Gwyneth have a fantastic relationship.

"Chris told friends he can see marriage and kids with Dakota.

"Gwyneth knows it's the real deal."

'Too small' pint glasses recalled

A HIGH street restaurant chain has been caught serving undersized pints.

A nationwide recall of the glasses was ordered by bosses at the unnamed firm after the discovery by Birmingham Trading Standards.

Following a "significant complaint" officers investigated the chain and found out that glasses the "pints" were being served in were 8.1ml too small.

COVER GIRL

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

THESE are the killer curves that have made Sam Cooke one of the sexiest WAGs in the WORLD!

The stunning model, who is married to Manchester United and England defender Chris Smalling, is regularly listed as one of the hottest WAGs in the game.

And it's really not hard to see why.

Spirits

While Chris, 28, might still be coming to terms with failing to make the England World Cup squad, we're pretty sure Sam is keeping his spirits up.

Blonde bombshell Sam showed off exactly what Russia is missing by posing for these jaw-dropping photos.

The 31-year-old, from Manchester, is often seen supporting her beau at Old Trafford and boasts a cracking pair of award-winning 30F trophies herself.

Best get set for a month of red hot shagging

Sigrid Anderson says...

"IS it any wonder we're all hornier in the summer? Girls wear next to nothing and the lads all have their tops off – it's only natural we need more sex!"

Cindy Dollar says...

"LAST summer, me and my fella couldn't get enough sex in! You name the place, we bonked there. We shagged on the beach, on our balcony, it was so hot!"

Sapphire Smith says...

> ‘TO me it doesn’t matter what month it is, I’m horny all year round. Whatever month it is, I always need a good seeing-to and a hard cock!’

SUMMER is the ideal time to have SCORCHING HOT SEX as July is the SEXIEST month of the year.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

With the heatwave well and truly underway, you’d be forgiven for thinking couples wanted to cool down instead of heating up but this month has been dubbed the one where Brits just can’t get enough nookie.

According to a new poll, 22 per cent of couples said they romped the most in July, making it the hottest month of the year for passion.

More than a fifth of couples (22 per cent) said they had more sex in July than any other month but the other summer months weren’t far behind.

August was the second steamiest and was chosen by 20 per cent of couples, while June was the third sexiest with 16 per cent of couples doing it more.

And it’s holidays which add to the X-rated antics of Brits, according to results from leading sex toy retailer Lovehoney’s survey.

They quizzed 2,000 people in the summer survey and found that 62 per cent of couples shag more when they’re on their jollies than they do at home.

A quarter of them said that sex was no different abroad, while just 12 per cent bonk less while on holiday than they do at home.

The main reason couples have more passion is because they feel more relaxed, a fact chosen by 38 per cent of respondents.

Holidaymakers are also hornier because they simply have more time together, according to 26 per cent of those polled.

However, it’s the beach which sees the most action as 57 per cent of couples have bonked on the sands abroad.

Other top holiday sex spots outside the bedroom in a field (31 per cent), a park (28 per cent) and in a pool (24 per cent).

A Lovehoney spokesman said: “The summer is here and we are all feeling frisky! The sun shining changes everyone’s moods and of course means we are wearing far fewer clothes.

“It’s much easier to flirt and have fun when the weather is warm – and that means are lot more of us are getting it on.”

We asked three Sport stunnas about their sauciest summer shags…

Threesomes top big list of erotic fantasies

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

THE most common erotic fantasies have been revealed, thanks to a groundbreaking new study that lifts the lid on secret sexual cravings.

Dr Justin Lehmiller, of Ball State University, Indiana, quizzed 4,175 people to compile the most comprehensive survey of sexual fantasies.

His study, Tell Me What You Want, found that 96 per cent of participants admitted to having a sexual fantasy, although very few had revealed these to their partners.

A staggering 89% of people in the survey said they fantasise about having a threesome – but many said that their ideal threesome would involve their partners.

The study also found that the majority of people said they had fantasised about at least one BDSM act, with 65% of those quizzed preferring to receive pain.

Around 60% suggested that giving up control was a turn on and his results showed fantasies came in the form of spanking, biting and dripping hot wax.

In terms of spicing things up, people were keen to try new locations and positions.

Doggy-style was men's top position to fantasise about, while the setting was more important for women.

But a "public" location emerged as top turn on for many people.

These included places such as an office, lift or park, and appeared to be driven by the sense of adventure or the thrill of getting caught.

Thrill

Less than 1% fantasised about cheating, but far more were turned on when they weren't being deceptive about partner-sharing.

Dr Lehmiller found 79% of men had fantasised about an open relationship, but this slipped to 62% for women.

A whopping 58% of people said they would get a thrill out of watching their partner have sex with other people.

Sport stunna Susi Nigbezsmieta said: "I'm lucky I've managed to tick off my fantasy and I urge everyone else to!

#MY SEX FANTASY

‘Start nice and slow then slide in a little at a time’

HORNY Hollie Gibbons has confessed she’s partial to a spot of BUM FUN when she’s feeling really horny.

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The 32E babe took time out to tell the Midweek Sport just how she likes to take it up the bottom.

But, a word of warning, fellas – the 26-year-old model doesn’t like it if you’re too rough and ready, rather than taking things slowly.

The Brighton-born beauty said: “The trick is to take everything very slowly.

“I like it when the man takes charge and tells me to sit in front of him on my heels, on a bed or a table.

“Foreplay is so important – kissing, stroking my breasts and rubbing my clit.

Finger

“It’s best to start off having vaginal sex before moving onto the main event – it helps to get us both warmed up.

“Then I like the man to tell me what he’s going to do next – starting with putting a finger in my arse, and then another, and build it up like that.

“The most important thing is to start slowly then slide in a little at a time, and you must remember to use plenty of lube.

“It always hits the spot!”

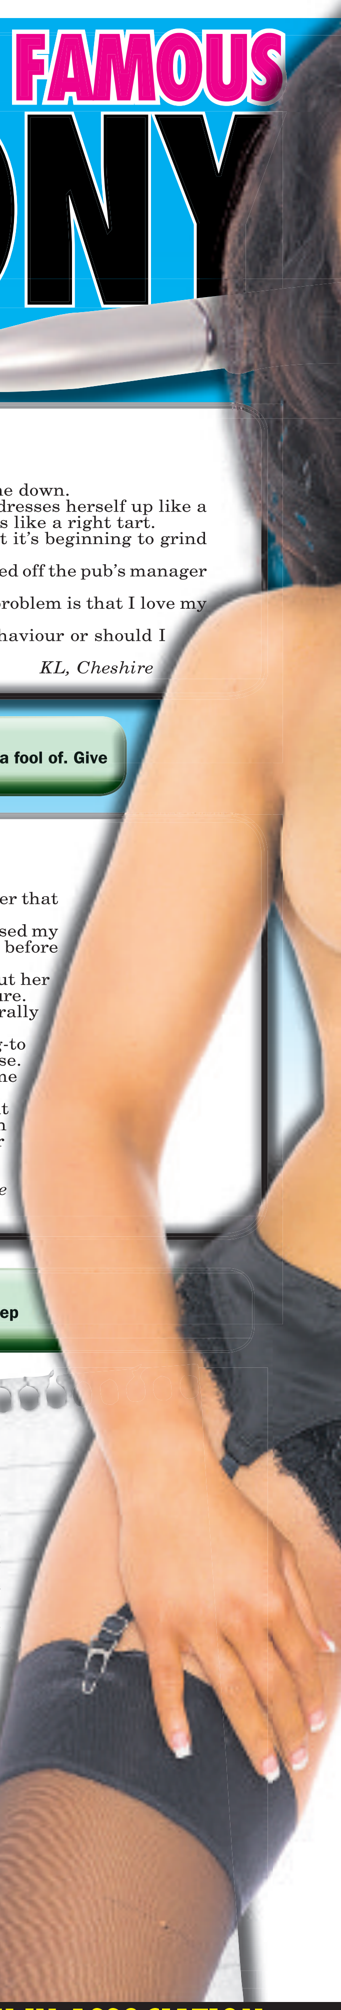
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Ashleigh,

MY bird is a right flirt and it is getting me down.

Every time we go down the boozer she dresses herself up like a two-bob hooker and comes on to my mates like a right tart.

My pals all thought this was funny, but it's beginning to grind me down.

Now the barmaid says that my girl sucked off the pub's manager last Friday, night during a boozy lock-in.

It's made me look a right ct, but the problem is that I love my girl and want to marry her one day.

Do you think I should overlook this behaviour or should I kick this girl into touch?

KL, Cheshire

Ashleigh says...

NOBODY likes being made a fool of. Give this girl the elbow.

Dear Ashleigh,

MY girlfriend has got a Jack Russell terrier that is very protective towards her.

The other night she stripped off and teased my throbbing knob with her tongue and tits before deepthroating me expertly.

I then returned the favour and licked out her wet pussy while she wriggled with pleasure.

She was so turned on that she was literally screaming out loud for me to fk her.

I was starting to give her a right seeing-to when I felt this unbelievable pain in my arse.

Her bastard dog had sunk its teeth in me and was treating my bum like raw meat.

She thought it was highly amusing. But I don't want to tell her to choose between the dog and me because I think she'd go for the mutt – and I'd look a right bellend.

What should I do?

DG, South Tyneside

Ashleigh says...

GIVE the dog a chew to keep it occupied.

Dear Ashleigh,

MY mate has got an English bull terrier and it really helps him pull women.

We were walking the dog in the park the other day when a blonde Scottish bird stopped to stroke his pet.

My pal ended up getting her phone number and he's been riding her ever since.

I thought I'd try the same tactic, so I took the pooch out to a park and just hung around trying to look cool.

There wasn't much happening though, so I walked to another park and sat feeding the ducks in the lake.

A girl came along and sat beside me, and although she wasn't much of a looker – a munter, in fact – we swapped numbers.

I told my mate and he just creased up.

Every time my phone rings, I'm petrified it might be her.

What should I do?

CD, Merseyside

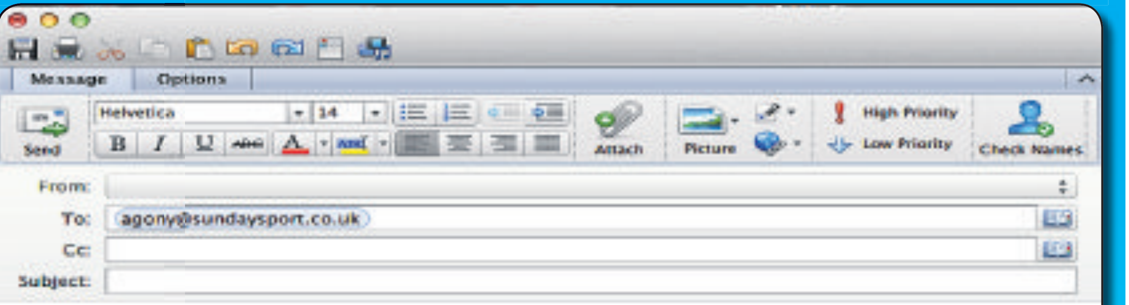
Ashleigh says...

TAKE your terrier to another park and there's always a chance you'll meet other dogs – and hopefully their attractive female owners.

Happy breeding!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...



To: agony@sundaysport.co.uk

Adventurous sex turns my wife into a raving lesbian

Dear Ashleigh,

I HAVE just discovered that my wife is having an affair – with another woman – and is now planning to leave me.

After 10 years together I thought that everything was OK with us.

But now I'm beginning to think that it's all been a sham and she has always been a lezza.

The funny thing is that our sex life has always been brilliant, and we've tried lots of "toys", gadgets and different positions during our years together.

One hectic sex session occurred during a very memorable holiday weekend in Devon.

Dildos

We packed a selection of dildos and vibrators and went straight to our hotel room to try them out.

We started off with mutual masturbation, oral sex in the 69 position, doggy-style nookie and even a bit of anal.

After we had both climaxed several times we dressed and went out for dinner.

But we were soon so horny we couldn't finish our meal and went back to our room, stripped off and jumped in the sack again.

This time I pleasured her with a 10-inch dildo and she used a vibrator on me (I love the sensual buzzing feeling in my bottom).

After a while we were so turned on that I just climbed on her and bonked her brains out for 25 minutes before I collapsed on top of her and we lay in a hot sweaty heap before falling asleep.

We woke at around 2am and had another shag.

This great routine continued until we left for home on Sunday afternoon.

I have tried talking to my wife about her lesbian affair, but she doesn't want to know.

What can I do?

RM, Glasgow

Ashleigh says...

DON'T give up on her because her lesbo affair might just be an infatuation.

Dear Ashleigh,

I LIVE in a shared house with four women in their early 20s – I'm the only fella, and I'm single.

Recently, I've started taking bits of underwear off my sexy housemates when they're out at work, and I like to sniff their little panties while wanking.

But I'm terrified they'll come back early one day and catch me at it.

I know I should really stop this kinky behaviour before it's too late, but I think I'm hooked on knicker-sniffing.

What should I do?

PT, Stoke

Ashleigh says...

WELL, it's illegal so go and buy yourself some cheap knickers off the market and knock yourself out!

Slagging off my female neighbour turns her on

Dear Ashleigh,

I HAD a huge row with my neighbour's wife over a parking space, during which I called her a "slag".

I saw her a few days later and, feeling guilty, I apologised and asked her in for a brew.

She must be pushing 50 but before I realised what I was doing I started to compliment her on her figure, and she responded by saying she thought I was a handsome guy – then suddenly we were kissing.

She said she was going to suck me off and gave me a blowjob before she wriggled out of her panties and bent over the kitchen table.

As I rammed into her sopping minge we heard her hubby's car pull up outside and she hurriedly left through the back door.

Now she wants more cock and is threatening to tell her hubby if I don't comply. Help!

WL, north London

Ashleigh says...

TELL her to fk off.

Dear Ashleigh,

MY problem is, I have a frightfully large member.

Doctors say it's the biggest they've ever seen.

All very well, but unfortunately every woman I've been with has cried off in shock and I'm still a virgin.

How can I get this monstrous tool of mine wet.

I'm 56, by the way.

HP, East Sussex

Ashleigh says...

USE a dating site and be up front about it.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 21-year-old secretary in a legal firm and my older boss has taken a real shine to me.

A couple of weeks ago the two of us had to go on a two-day seminar out of town, and stay over.

After the presentations had finished we went out for dinner and I let him order for me.

He got us a bottle of champagne and oysters and I was getting turned on my him.

So when he suggested we go back to his room at the hotel for a nightcap I was well up for it.

As soon as the door closed behind us, I had his shirt off and we were snogging each other.

Then I went down on him and after five minutes he told me to stop, so he could play with my 34DDs and finger my wet fanny.

He boned me doggy-style over the end of the bed until I climaxed – gushing messily all over the carpet.

Now he says that if I agree to have sex with him every week he'll make sure that I get a promotion, with more money.

I'm very tempted by his offer.

What should I do?

PF, Norfolk

Ashleigh says...

MAKE sure you get that promotion sorted next time you've got his Johnson out.

He'll be absolute putty in your hands!

LACEY JAY

NAUGHTY Lacey Jay is the choice of betting shop worker Kevin Francis.

The 43-year-old, from Bournemouth, is "gutted" that Lacey, 26, from Walton-on-Thames, Surrey, hasn't been in the paper much lately.

He wrote: "I think she's proper sexy – and you can tell she's a bit naughty!

"I've been looking forward to seeing more photos of her lovely 34B boobs, but I've been left a bit disappointed.

"So would you mind printing a cheeky photo for me? It's been ages – and there's plenty of Lacey fans out there!"

MILLIE FENTON

RETAIL manager Charlie Swinnow reckons he's a connoisseur of cracking curves and says Millie Fenton has the ideal figure.

Charlie, 38, sees thousands of girls in his shop every week – but there's only one beauty that lives up to his high standards.

He's got his sights set on 26-year-old Millie, from Biddulph, Staffordshire, and would love a peek at her 32DD pert pair.

The Falmouth fella said: "Millie is proper fit. Can I have a topless photo of her printed, so I can be reminded every day just how fit she really is?"

Here you go, Charlie boy!

AIWE

EXOTIC beauty Aiwe has "the best boobs in the business", according to one of her biggest fans, Henry Gilbert.

Shop worker Henry, 54, reckons Aiwe's 34D norks are the best pair he's ever laid eyes on and he's a huge fan of the 29-year-old babe.

He said: "I've been reading the Sport for years and Aiwe is the one girl who, for me, is the full package.

"She's beautiful and has that girl-next-door look that drives me wild.

"And I reckon she's got the best norks in the glamour girl business!"

Babestation CAMS

By BECCA STUBBS

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

BUSTY blonde bombshell Maisie has been crowned this week's Babestation Cam Girl of the Week – and it's no wonder.

Stunning model Maisie posed up a storm in this very sexy photoshoot and squeezed her peachy bottom into a tiny blue G-string.

Maisie, 22, from Manchester, even peeled off her miniscule knickers for a completely starkers shot.

Sexiness

The beauty says she's got plenty more sexiness in store on her webcam and says that her 32E norks are just the start of the action she's set to display.

Maisie said: "I've got loads of hot and horny fans who always beg for more.

"I'm a tease – I love getting them all riled up and then giving them exactly what they want.

"I love the thought of turning on hundreds of people at once, and trust me, they turn me on just as much!"

If she's got your pulse racing and trousers stirring, log on now to Babestation where Nicole and a whole host of hotties will be stripping off just for you.

Konta & Kyle march on at Wimbo

BRITISH NUMBER ONES KEEP DREAMS ALIVE

GO WITH THE JO: Konta salutes the crowd after her win

By NED PERRY

BRITISH No1s Johanna Konta and Kyle Edmund both enjoyed straight-sets wins in the opening round of Wimbledon.

Last year's semi-finalist Konta had to work the harder of the two in beating Natalia Vikhlyantseva 7-5, 7-6.

It took the 22nd seed six match points to see off the battling Russian 21-year-old who looks to have a big future in the game.

Edmund is seeded 21 in the men's draw and quickly dispatched Aussie Alex Bolt 6-2, 6-3, 7-5 in less than two hours. He is Britain's No1 largely due to the absence of Andy Murray for so long with injury but he looked a few spots above his ranking in front of a passionate home crowd.

They join fellow Brit Katie Swan in the second round as the sun continues to shine in south-west London.

Konta will have to up her game if she's going to get close to last season's heroics.

But there was plenty to work on and her serve is in good order, which is vital.

She said: "It's the first round of a Slam and there were definitely some nerves there.

"First rounds are always tricky. The conditions were tricky, breezy and gusty, it didn't make it easy.

Happy

"I am playing these Championships independent of what happened last year. I am a littler wiser this year, working hard to be here for a full two weeks."

Court One enjoyed every rally of Edmund's win and the man himself was pleased with his performance.

He said: "I'm just really happy to get through the first round. There's always that long preparation where there's lots of thinking ahead, excitement, anticipation, you've got the media, all that stuff to do.

"So to get the first round out of the way, play well, I'm very happy with. What a setting to do it, first time playing on Court One in singles.

"Tricky third set but it shows how well I was playing and thinking to come back and win it 7-5."

Stockport's Naomi Broady got her first taste of Centre Court and gave defending champion Garbine Muguruza a couple of scares in going down 6-2, 7-5. The Brit was very nervous in the first set and gave herself a mountain to climb against the powerful Spaniard.

It took her 90 minutes to win and Broady held her own in the second set until being broken at 5-5.

Muguruza said: "It was incredible, it is a beautiful court, I am back and it is always good, I wanted to win and enjoy it more.

"I am happy with my serve and controlling the emotions, to be back in a grand slam is always emotional so I am happy the way I am playing.

"I knew she had a big serve and big shots and on grass it's always difficult."

WIMBLEDON: On BBC TV

THE WINNING POST

Pablo can pay out

ON THURSDAY, Haydock host what looks like a card for the future with plenty of nursery and novice events.

The most exciting juvenile on show in my view is PABLO ESCOBARR (NAP) who was subject to a strong market move on debut and he very nearly proved backers right.

Perhaps a little naivety caught him out in the end as a more experienced rival just squeezed by him on the line but he showed plenty of promise and being a son of Galileo he went into plenty of people's notebooks that day.

I can see him developing into a very nice middle distance horse next year but in the meantime he should at least pay his way as a two year old. This race looks the perfect opportunity for him to get his head in front before connections step him up in grade.

By BEN MORGAN

HESSLEWOOD looked pretty decent on debut at York despite causing somewhat of an upset, as he pulled nicely clear in the closing stages.

You could see he was battling a touch of greenness but when the penny dropped he took off quite nicely.

He will have to give away 6lbs to all of his rivals in the 2.30 tomorrow but I honestly can't find one to beat him so he looks a solid bet.

I think the handicapper may have let VENTURA BAY in quite lightly on handicap debut.

A mark of 68 looks quite lenient given he has form that ties in nicely with some of the best juveniles of the season so far.

A promising run at Wetherby behind an experienced horse was followed by a five-length third at Chester. Interestingly enough, the Chester form has been boosted since with the first placed horse almost winning at the Curragh last weekend and the second placed horse winning cosily back on the Roodee next time out.

With improvement expected now in cooler waters I can see Ventura Bay going in.

The improvement Tim Easterby has squeezed out of EEH BAH GUM has been nothing short of amazing and I am predicting he racks up the five-timer off a 29lb higher mark than he started the season on.

He won easily again last time out, laughing in the handicapper's face as he did so, and this race looks a weaker event if anything so I see no other result bar another victory.

GUTTED: Jorgensen

Death threat for Danish pastry

DENMARK striker Nicolai Jorgensen has received death threats after missing a vital penalty in the shoot-out defeat against Croatia.

The match ended 1-1 and it was the Feyenoord's hitman's error that saw the Danes crash out.

The Denmark FA issued a strong statement, saying: "Stop. Our society must never accept death threats — neither against World Cup stars, politicians or others.

"It is completely unacceptable and indecent. We are reporting the case to the police to end this madness."

Jorgensen is being linked with a big-money move to Newcastle this summer but will struggle to live his miss down.

■POLAND coach Adam Nawalka will leave his job at the end of the month after the fancied nation flopped at the World Cup.

Despite having stars like Robert Lewandowski, the Poles finished bottom of Group H.

Ambitions

Zbigniew Boniek, head of the Polish FA, said: "We have decided that Adam Nawalka will remain Poland's team coach until July 30 and after that day we will be looking for a new coach.

"We will try to build a national team in a new way."

Nawalka added: "I feel responsible that we did not meet expectations.

"We did not meet our plans, ambitions, our fans' expectations, that we disappointed and I take full responsibility for that."

■YURI Zhirkov is a doubt for RUSSIA ahead of their quarter-final against Croatia.

The defender limped off at half-time against Spain in the last 16 tie and has a calf strain.

A Russian FA spokesman said: "In the coming days he will undergo treatment at the national team.

"The exact terms of his return at the moment cannot be revealed."

The host nation will be hoping to stay at full strength against the Croatians in Sochi on Saturday. Zhirkov is an important part of the back five and coach Stan Cherchesov will want him fit.

NEIN! Joachim Löw watches his Germany side crash out in Russia

LOW GER AS C

Gaffer vows to

JOACHIM Löw is staying on as Germany coach after their humiliating exit from the World Cup group stage.

By PAUL THOMAS

The defending champions were a shambles in Russia, with squad in-fighting and poor displays on the pitch.

But Löw — who led them to glory in 2014 — will be given the chance to sort out the mess in time for the next Euros.

He has been in charge since 2006 and had never failed to reach the semis at major tournaments until this time around.

The 58-year-old has SIX years remaining on his contract so would have cost a packet to fire.

The German FA seem to have left it up to Löw to decide whether to stay or go.

While in England, getting a vote of confidence from your chairman is code for "sacked in the morning" it's not that way in Europe.

The head of Germany's FA said: "There is no other opinion — a clear vote of confidence.

"At the level of the national team, change above all means to introduce young players."

Another manager who looked as though he was going to the job centre on Monday night was Belgium's Roberto Martinez.

The former Wigan and Everton gaffer looked set for the chop as Japan led 2-0 in the second half of their last-16 match.

A turnaround that ended up with West Brom's Nacer Chadli getting an injury-time winner changed the mood dramatically.

It was the first time a team had come back from 2-0 down in a World Cup knockout tie since West Germany beat England in 1970.

Now the Belgian boss really believes that his team can go all the way and win the tournament.

Martinez said: "You have to find a reaction, but what you need more than anything is the desire and togetherness of a group of players who are desperate to perform.

Attitude

"If you look at the stats there are not many games where you can come back from 2-0 down at a World Cup.

"This is down to the personality, to the focus, to the desire, to the never-give-up attitude of the players and almost the belief of the players when they came on.

"Doing it within the 90 minutes was an incredible achievement.

"The third goal is a really strong counter-attack which in almost six seconds we cover from one box to another with three players being able to get there.

"Then the unselfish play from Romelu Lukaku, who as a number nine could have tried to finish the action, but he is aware and allows Nacer Chadli to score into an open goal."

For once, it wasn't Eden Hazard hitting the headlines for the Belgians and the Chelsea forward is relieved to still be in the tournament.

He was having flashbacks to the Euros when underdogs Wales dumped them out.

Hazard said: "We were thinking it was going to be like two years ago against Wales, but we were also thinking if we can score goals the game is on.

"We have players that can change a game, we brought players from the bench who made the difference, so today we are just happy to have won and have gone through to the quarter-finals."

Diving

Now Hazard is looking forward to being an underdog himself in Friday's quarter-final against Brazil.

He added: "When it comes to the next match, it is going to be magnificent because playing against Brazil is always amazing as a football player.

"We are going to rest really well and going to really try to win that match."

Neymar will be Brazil's star man but his diving antics are making him a laughing stock. It's that bad

BLOW FOR MAN FLOPS OACH STAYS

sort out mess after early knockout

that even Diego Maradona has told him to stop throwing himself to the ground every time anyone comes near him.

His embarrassing playacting hit a new low when he screamed and threw himself around as though he'd been shot during the win against Mexico in the last 16.

Maradona is no stranger to "bending the rules" himself but said: "He is still lacking something but he is a star.

"He has to know that today diving is a yellow card and VAR exists.

"He already had one taken away against Costa Rica.

"Neymar has to change the 'chip' in his head a little bit."

Neymar's diving is that bad that it's threatening to sour Brazil's position as everyone's second favourite team.

Captain Thiago Silva is trying to focus on the football rather than the acting abilities — or lack of them — of his star player. He is expecting a big challenge from Poirot's lads.

He said: "Belgium are very strong physically and technically.

"They deserve to play in the last eight.

"I think that in all competitions Brazil is the favourite. But we know that's not enough.

Defend

"We have to work hard and give our best every game if we want to win the title. We will continue to work and rest well because Friday's game will be even more difficult."

Silva did try to defend Neymar — who is also his Paris St Germain clubmate for now.

He added: "The players who defend on him make fouls because it's always hard to defend Neymar and take the ball without making fouls.

"It was a tough game. Mexico deserved to be in the last 16 and did a great match.

"But only one team continues. And we deserve that after our performance."

Neymar reckons the criticism of his Oscar-worthy performances is just sour grapes from other countries trying to put him off.

He said: "Look, I think it's more of an attempt to undermine me than anything else. I don't care much for criticism, not even from the press because in a way this can influence athletes.

"The last two matches I didn't talk to the press because there's so many people talking.

"I just want to play and I help my team-mates, I have to help my team and that's what I am here for.

"I am here to win and I hope I can improve."

ON THE DECK: Neymar — again

READY TO GO: Froome

Froome with a view to Tour win

TOUR DE FRANCE

CHRIS Froome will lead Team Sky at the Tour De France after being cleared of any doping violations.

The sport's governing body ended it's investigation into the four-time winner earlier this week.

It means the Brit is fully entitled to defend his Tour title — and will do so whatever stick he gets from the French spectators and media.

The 33-year-old would equal the record if he can win a fifth race and that would drive the locals crazy.

Organisers of the Tour De France tried to keep Froome from racing but the UCI have seen nothing wrong with the level of asthma drug Salbutamol found in his sample taken at Spain's La Vuelta last year.

Team Sky are fulling expecting to win the race with a strong team that includes British riders Geraint Thomas and Luke Rowe.

Whether the French like it or not, Froome would join the greats of the sport including Eddy Merckx and Miguel Induarin if he can win the race this time.

Confidence

The Brit admits all the mind games and criticism have taken their toll.

Froome said: "The last 12 months have been the hardest but also the most incredible of my career.

"I've never started the Tour de France after riding the Giro d'Italia and it has meant a completely different approach to my season.

"But I learnt a lot from riding the Vuelta straight after the Tour de France last year which has given me confidence coming into this race.

"I want to make history with a fifth Tour de France win and fourth consecutive Grand Tour.

"I am under no illusion about the challenge, but I am feeling ready and I couldn't ask for a better team to support me."

Froome says he can cope with stick from the crowds, adding: "There is always some kind of confrontation out on the road but it's always a minority and it's just something you have to deal with."

"This is the biggest race of the year, in front of the most passionate cycling fans, and I can't wait to get racing."

Brazil fight France to head betting

SELECAO 3-1 WORLD CUP FAVS

THERE are no World Cup games for a couple of days but there's a good battle to be favourite to lift the golden trophy.

Brazil are 3/1 market leaders from France 7/2, Belgium 5s and Croatia 6/1.

That's pretty tight and will obviously change as other results are known.

No World Cup games until Fantastic Friday but Wimbledon continues to bake under sweltering conditions and later this evening we will have the draw for the BetVictor World Matchplay Darts tournament which begins in Blackpool later in the month.

I recently interviewed Michael van Gerwen in BetVictor's offices and it would be fair to say that he was in confident mood as he bids to regain the title. Mighty Mike is 8/11 with BetVictor and it is impossible to look past the Dutch magician – those odds cannot last, given his current dominance on the floor. Roger Federer is 6/4 to regain his Wimbledon title ahead of his second round tie with Lukas Lacko later today for which he is 1/50 to win the tie and 2/7 to win in straight sets.

Stan Wawrinka knocked out sixth seed Grigor Dimitrov on Monday and he is 7/5 to beat qualifier Thomas Fabbiano in straight sets this afternoon – the Italian came from a set down to beat Yuki Bhambri on Monday but I feel a rejuvenated Stan can ease past Fabbiano today and 7/5 looks a fair price.

Dual former Champion Petra Kvitova is the 4/1 favourite with BetVictor for the Women's title and grass really suits the Czech's game.

She has looked as good as ever this year winning four titles and she will certainly have much of the neutral support having recovered from career threatening surgery to her left hand having been stabbed by an intruder back in December 2016.

Kvitova and Spain's Garbine Murguruza (8/1 at BetVictor) are my two against the field in the Women's event with marginal preference for Kvitova. Serena Williams (5/1) is seeded 25 even though she is rated 183rd in the world but looked in good form in Paris before retiring with injury.

Williams gave birth to daughter Olympia back in September but you can never underestimate the seven-time champion. It would be an extraordinary achievement if she landed an eight title on Saturday week at the age of 36 but she is, arguably, the best player of all time and is a wonderful competitor.

★ There is a decent card at Kempton this evening and in the valuable mile-and-a-half handicap a market move for Roger Charlton's Roar would be worth noting stepping back to 12f having looked in deed of his first start for the yard back in May.

Marginal preference is for Native Fighter (7.20) despite the fact that he has been raised 5lbs for finishing runner up over tonight's C&D last time.

He has a cracking draw in stall two and can overcome a career high mark.

I'LL GET ME COAT: Wilshere missed Russia

Sad Jack: I'll be back for Three Lions

JACK Wilshere says England manager Gareth Southgate has left the door open for him to return to the Three Lions team.

The former Arsenal midfielder looks to be heading for Turkey and Fenerbahce despite having offers from big clubs in England and Europe.

The midfielder was one of the controversial omissions from the World Cup squad named by Southgate. But Wilshere is adamant that he will play for his country again one day, whichever club he signs for.

The Londoner said: "With regards to the future, Gareth said the door was still open to me and I wished him well for the tournament."

Wilshere has also come to the defence of the gaffer for resting so many players in the group stage defeat against Belgium.

He added: "I think it was important for the players in the squad.

Better

"I've been in tournaments before when you've been away for a while and you're not really playing, you're just training.

"Sometimes you can feel like you're not really part of it.

"I think it was a good decision, we had qualified and it didn't really matter if we came first or second.

"Some have argued we are almost better off finishing second.

"You can help build momentum in training by keeping the pace and intensity high.

"Make things happen in training and then you can transfer that onto the pitch."

Wilshere is expected to be confirmed as a Fenerbache player in the next couple of days.

Arsenal boss Unai Emery did make him an offer but couldn't give him any assurances that he would be a first-team regular at the Emirates.

He is also reported to have offered the lifelong Gunner a reduced weekly wage than the one on offer in Turkey — where there will also be Champions League football.

Wilshere is obviously leaving the club with a heavy heart.

He posted a montage of pictures on Twitter along with the message: "First day in 17 years not being an Arsenal player.

"Ups and downs but I enjoyed every minute of it."

SWEDES DREAM ON AS SWISS MISS

Forsberg fires Scandinavians into last eight

EMIL Forsberg fired Sweden into the World Cup quarter-finals.

The Red Bull Leipzig forward scored the only goal of the match — with the help of a big deflection from Swiss centre-back Manuel Akanji.

Both sides had chances to score more in a match that could have gone either way but lacked the sheer entertainment of other last-16 ties.

By ANDY MILLOM

Space

Sweden missed a great chance to take the lead just before the break when Albin Ekdal missed a sitter when just yards from goal.

He was played in by Celtic's Mikel Lustig and had all the time in the world to control the ball and knock into the net.

But, for some reason, he went for a blaster and volleyed the ball over the bar when in acres of space. That miss came just after Switzerland had cocked-up their clearest opening of the first period.

This time Steven Zuber combined well with Blerim Dzemaili on the edge of the Swedish penalty area.

The latter found himself open in front of goal but boomed his shot over the bar.

It can only have been blind panic — the effort was that bad.

Arsenal's Granit Xhaka was guilty of another Swiss miss in the first half.

The midfielder found space around 30 yards from the Swedish goal and almost matched his screamer from the group stages.

This time his shot went just over the bar with Robin Olsen grasping at thin air.

Swiss keeper Yann Sommer pulled off a great stop at 0-0 to deny Swedish striker Marcus Berg. He did well to find a little space inside the area and the cross was aimed perfectly towards him.

He connected badly but his show was creeping into the corner until Sommer somehow got a fingertip to it.

The second half was drifting along and came up past the hour mark when both teams would have had their first thoughts of not doing anything stupid and wondering about extra-time.

That's when Sweden broke the deadlock and changed the course of the game.

When the opener came it was against the run of play as Switzerland had been enjoying a good spell of pressure.

But at the other end, a good passing move saw Forsberg on the edge of Switzerland's box.

Controversy

He had the defenders in two minds as he progressed to the edge of the area and unleashed what would have been a harmless shot — untill Akanji stuck out a boot and the ball cannoned over Sommer and into the net.

A couple of minutes later, Swiss full-back Ricardo Rodriguez broke forward but his shot was straight at Olsen.

That came after Ekdal could have doubled Sweden's lead but his shot from the edge of the box went over the bar.

Xherdan Shaqiri had an influence too but his teammates couldn't get on the end of some of his nice passes in and around the area.

Just when we thought VAR was not going to get involved in a game, there was controversy in injury time.

Referee Damir Skomina initially pointed to the penalty spot for a foul on Martin Olsson by Michael Lang.

The Swiss was sent off for being the last man and there's no doubt that it was a foul.

But on review, it was clear that the offence happened outside the penalty area and it was downgraded to a free-kick.

The red card stood and Ola Toivonen had time to strike his free-kick that was well saved by Sommer before the referee blew for full-time.

UNLUCKY: Manuel Akanji

Iniesta hangs up Spain boots

ANDRES Iniesta has retired from international football.

As was widely expected, the legend played his last match on the big stage when Spain were knocked out of the World Cup by Russia.

The 34-year-old is in semi-retirement from club football too and now plays for Vissel Kobe in the Japanese league.

He said: “Now is the time to step aside. It’s not an easy decision, on the contrary, I’ve been thinking about it a lot during the past months.

“It was the dream of my life to defend the colours of my country

“It was something very special, not just a dream but a great responsibility. During all these years I’ve tried to make myself conscious of what it means and give always my best, to make yourself proud.”

Iniesta has spent 12 years in the Spain team, winning two European championships and the World Cup in 2010.

SAINTS RECORD BUY HEADS OUT

By ANDY MILLOM

SOUTHAMPTON striker Guido Carrillo is on the brink of signing for Leganes on loan.

The Saints coughed up a club record £19million to Monaco for his signature in January but he has made just 10 starts and hasn’t scored.

Mark Hughes has come in as manager since then and clearly doesn’t fancy the 27-year-old.

He has been left at home while the rest of the players have started their pre-season tour so the writing is on the wall.

The Argentine forward wants more first-team action and is happy to join the top-flight Spanish side.

Sofiane Boufal is another player who Hughes is happy to get rid of.

The Moroccan has been subject to interest from Europe but there’s little chance of getting back the £16m paid to Lille for his services in 2016. He scored just twice last season.

Carra back on Sky telly

JAMIE Carragher will be back on Sky Sports’ football coverage this season after promising never to react to fans again.

The 40-year-old was suspended after he spat at a car with a 14-year-old girl and her father inside. He had been taunting the former Liverpool star about Manchester United’s victory against them.

Carragher has been cleared to return by Sky Sports managing director Barney Francis after face-to-face talks.

The ex-England international called it a “moment of madness” at the time and has promise there will never be a repeat, even if provoked.

A Sky Sports spokesman said: “We’ve spoken to Jamie and reminded him of the standards we expect at Sky Sports.

“He has shown remorse, is hugely apologetic for the offence he caused and has taken the appropriate steps to make sure that the incident will not be repeated.”

SON TO MISS PREM GAMES

By MIKE FRANCIS

SPURS striker Heung-min Son will miss the first month of the Premier League season on international duty with South Korea.

The striker has been told he can play at the Asian Games — even though the club don’t have to release him.

They have said yes because otherwise he would have to carry out national service in his home nation.

That would see him spend 21 months in South Korea — unless he can help the under-23 side win a gold medal as an overage player.

All males in the country have to do their national service before the age of 28 so Spurs don’t have much choice.

Tottenham kick off their season against Newcastle on August 11. Son would miss the opening four matches including the clash against Manchester United and two London derbies.

MAHREZ GETS HIS DREAM AT LAST

Riyad heads to City for £60m

By JOHN ANTHONY

RIYAD Mahrez will be a Manchester City player by this weekend.

The champions have agreed a £60million fee with Leicester for the Algerian forward.

The 27-year-old is set for his medical at the Etihad before signing a four-year contract.

Leicester could have received a bigger fee for the winger in January but refused to let him go at that stage of the season.

Mahrez has been trying to push through the move for more than a year and even briefly went on “strike” from the Foxes.

Despite not being happy, he still made 41 appearances for Claude Puel’s men last season, scoring 13 goals.

He won’t be the only big name heading to City this week as Jorginho is due in Manchester for his medical.

He is flying in from Napoli tomorrow after the Italians agreed a fee of £48m for the midfielder.

The Serie A side left him out of their squad for the coming season and have already signed a replacement in Fabian Ruiz from Spanish team Real Betis.

One man who will surely be leaving the Etihad in the coming weeks is Joe Hart.

Dislodge

The forgotten goalie has returned to City after loan spells at Torino and West Ham where his form continued to dip.

He’s still only 31 and has 12 months of his contract left in Manchester.

It’s hard to see him wasting another season sat in the stands because he’d probably be FOURTH choice glove-man at the champions this season.

There’s no way he could dislodge Ederson as No1 and Claudio Bravo doesn’t look like he’s going anywhere. There’s also England U21 stopper Angus Gunn higher in the pecking order.

While Hart will be on good wages, it’s not hard to see him take a drop to get his career back on track.

There don’t appear to be any takers in the Premier League so it looks as though he’ll be heading to Europe.

French side Nice have expressed an interest and City would not ask for much of a fee to get him off the wage bill.

HEADING NORTH: Mahrez will be a City player this week

Meanwhile, NEWCASTLE manager Rafa Benitez continues to be frustrated by the club's lack of transfer funds.

The Toon have refused to meet the £25million asking price for Nice hitman Alassane Plea.

Walked

The Magpies have been tracking the 25-year-old but have had their initial bid turned down.

Fulham, West Ham and Borussia Monchengladbach are also interested so Benitez may miss out on another target. He came to prominence last season with 21 goals for the French side. He was missing from training earlier this week as new manager Patrick Vieira took over at Nice.

It still wouldn't be a shock if Benitez got fed up of the lack of fund on offer from Toon owner Mike Ashley and walked out before the big kick-off next month.

It's a Catch 22 situation with the Sports Direct magnate seemingly reluctant to spend big while the Spaniard is in the final year of his contract and hasn't signed a new one.

Benitez has been told that he can spend some of the TV money and anything generated from sales — but there won't be a big injection of cash this summer.

He is hoping to bring in £20m from Fulham for Aleksandar Mitrovic and other fringe players like Chancel Mbemba.

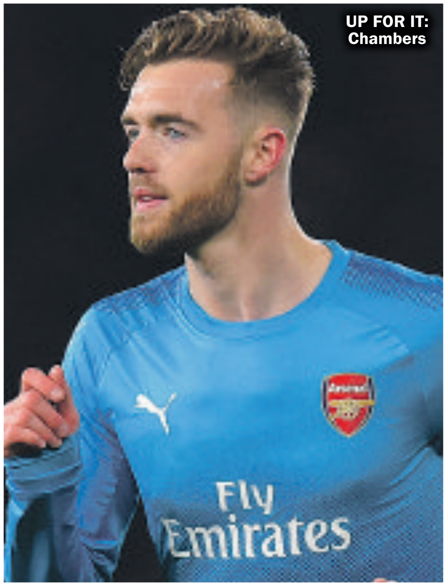
But he also has to fight off interest from more ambitious clubs for his best players like Jamaal Lascelles and Jonjo Shelvey.

At the very least, Benitez wants to make a move for Kenedy, who had a massive impact when joining the club on loan from Chelsea in January. The Brazilian forward is surplus to requirements at Stamford Bridge and would likely cost less than £10m — but there has been no move so far.

The Toon are also looking to secure a deal to bring Andros Townsend back to St James's Park.

Crystal Palace are asking for north of £25m for the England forward and that would exhaust most of Benitez's budget.

Newcastle need to hope that no decent manager's job comes up in the next couple of weeks when the Spaniard could throw in the towel.



UP FOR IT: Chambers

It's Gunner be exciting says Calum

CALUM Chambers is delighted with his new Arsenal contract — and believes incoming boss Unai Emery will kick off a new era at the club.

The 23-year-old was in and out of the team under Arsene Wenger last season but the new gaffer was quick to offer him a long-term deal.

Now he's looking to force his way into the first team during an important pre-season for the Gunners.

Emery is already making his mark on the squad and seems to be concentrating on beefing up the midfield and defence that crumbled so often last term.

Now Chambers just wants the action to start.

He said: "I'm really proud, really pleased and excited for this season and what lies ahead.

"It has obviously been different, it is not something we are used to at the club.

Message

"It is an exciting time, when you see everything announced we as players were excited and we are all going to push ourselves to do as well as we can this season.

"I just think that the new manager will put his message towards us and tell us how he wants us to play.

"Everyone in the team knows their roles and responsibilities and takes ownership of themselves and the team. Everyone needs to be fully dedicated and put everything into this season."

Chambers should have plenty of experience in defence with him this season.

NEW: Papastathopoulos

Emery has brought in veteran right-back Stefan Lichtsteiner from Juventus along with Greek stopper Sokratis Papastathopoulos — pray your kid doesn't want his name on the back of their shirt!

It means there will be competition for places in the startling line-up.

The England international almost left Arsenal last season for Leicester but is relieved he didn't make the move.

He added: "I'm over the moon about the new contract.

"It is a proud moment so for me now I just want to go and prove myself and show what I am capable of.

"Obviously for me at this moment in my career I need to play and I feel this is the club that really suits me.

"It is a great club, it is where I want to be and play at.

"This season I want to push myself and play as many games as I can."

UNITED £120M BALE BID

By JOHN ANTHONY

MANCHESTER United are ready to launch a £120 million move for Real Madrid ace Gareth Bale.

The Red Devils have been given the green light after the Spanish giants set the wheels in motion to buy Neymar from Paris St Germain.

The Brazilian will cost a massive £275m — so Real need to bring in cash to get the deal done.

Despite his heroics with two goals against Liverpool in the Champions League final, Bale is deemed surplus to requirements by new Madrid boss Julen Lopetegui.

Frighten

United have long been linked with Bale, who was largely left on the bench by Zinedine Zidane last season.

Boss Jose Mourinho would love to ally him with Alexis Sanchez and Romelu Lukaku in a front three to frighten any Premier League defence.

As soon as Neymar's signature is secured, Real will let Bale go.

The deals are expected to be concluded in the days after the World Cup finishes on July 15.
